

For Immediate Release- October 8, 2010

Wittman to Participate in League of Women Voters Candidate Debate

(Montross, VA) – Congressman Rob Wittman will participate in an October 13th candidate debate sponsored by the League of Women Voters. The debate will be held at 7pm at the Williamsburg Library in Williamsburg, Virginia.

“I look forward to this debate and the opportunity to once again talk about the important issues facing our country and Virginia’s First district,” said Congressman Wittman. Wittman committed to participate in this debate over four months ago.

“The reckless, irresponsible spending of the majority party in Congress is bankrupting America, and this needs to be discussed. More of the same is not the answer, and this and other issues impacting our economy and national security need to be the focus of this election. My record is clear, and my opposition to nationalized health care, the massive growth of the federal government under this Administration and Congress, and the crippling federal debt is well known. This candidate debate will once again allow me to discuss my vision for job creation, fiscal discipline, and a new way forward for America,” added Wittman.

What: League of Women Voters Candidate Debate
When: Wednesday, October 13th, 7pm
Where: Williamsburg Library, Williamsburg, VA